FOR THE EMCEE · PLEASE READ AS WRITTEN About 1 minute

Ladies and gentlemen, our next speaker is a communication coach, international keynote speaker, author, podcast host, and former science teacher who believes that when you own your voice, everything changes.

He's worked with Fortune 500 companies, industry associations, real estate pros, and even the Baltimore Ravens, teaching people how to communicate with confidence and tell stories that connect.

He's hosted seven podcasts (including the Speakernomics podcast for the National Speakers Association), written four books, and somehow still finds time to coach high school baseball. He's a Yankees fan (don't hold it against him), and to keep himself humble, he also cheers for the New York Jets.

THEN, WITH ENERGY

Please welcome to the stage...
